

Take Your Daughter to the Course Week
Supporting Junior Women Golfers with Free Green Fees and Teaching Clinic

In association with Play Golf America, Stonewall Golf Club will be participating in "Take Your Daughter to the Course Week" once again this year.

Gainesville, Virginia (7/5/10) – Stonewall Golf Club is offering free green fees to female golfers ages 17 and under during the week of July 5-11 as part of "Take Your Daughter to the Course Week," a national player development program spearheaded by the National Golf Course Owners Association and promoted in coordination with The PGA of America. Free green fees valid when accompanied by a paying adult anytime Monday through Thursday and after 12pm Friday through Sunday.

In addition to free green fees, Stonewall Golf Club will offer a free clinic to both daughters and parents on Saturday, July 10th from 4pm to 5pm. This clinic will focus on basic techniques from full swing to short game with emphasis on getting the entire family involved in the game.

"As the popularity of the game grows amongst the younger generations, we feel it is important to make golf more accessible through offering special pricing and programs geared directly towards our junior golfers," says Gary Huebner, Director of Golf at Stonewall Golf Club, "Events like these are a great way to expose new golfers to the game and encourage family involvement."

Stonewall Golf Club is an 18-hole facility with a Clubhouse and driving range, located in Northern Virginia just 30 minutes outside of Washington, DC. More information about the course and its facilities can be found at www.StonewallGolf.com or by calling 703.753.5101.
