New PGA Head Golf Professional Joins Stonewall Golf Club

Stonewall Golf Club, in Northern Virginia, introduces the newest member of their golf instruction team.

Gainesville, Virginia (4/26/10) – Stonewall Golf Club announces Jonathan Schoenfeld as the newest PGA Head Golf Professional. Bringing with him high-end public, private and resort golf experience from up and down the eastern seaboard, Schoenfeld is sure to provide the members and guests of Stonewall exceptional knowledge of the game with unparalleled service.

Schoenfeld earned his Class A PGA Membership in 2006 and has served as an Assistant Golf Professional and Head Golf Professional at such notable clubs as TPC Boston, Amelia Island Plantation in Florida and Ford's Colony Country Club in Williamsburg, Virginia.

"Jonathan's experience with such high-end facilities made him a perfect fit for Stonewall," says Gary Huebner, Director of Golf at Stonewall Golf Club, "His knowledge and expertise goes well beyond instruction but into the management and customer service which will enhance the experience of our guests."

Schoenfeld earned his Bachelor of Science in Recreation and Park Management, with an emphasis on Professional Golf Management, from Pennsylvania State University and was the 2005 recipient of the PGA Paul Runyan Collegiate Management Scholarship. He is an active member of the Middle Atlantic Section of the PGA.
